Oakland

THE CAR WITH A CONSCIENCE

Friction

Friction is the greatest "enemy" of an automobile.

Friction causes wear; wear causes tear; tear causes trouble.

To eliminate such wear friction as possible is the engineer's first thought, for he appreciates the importance of this one thing.

In Oakland construction, friction is reduced to the minimum, because of the design employed.

Our whole chassis is one of extreme simplicity. We put the motor, clutch and transmission in one compact housing. These units, making up the major part of the mechanism, are so assembled as to make friction, very slight—if any at all. The motor, clutch and transmission shaft bearings are perfectly aligned on one shaft; hence the elimination of friction.

It is this method of construction that has helped to make Oakland motors famous for power and quietness.

And we get this power and quietness by the elimination of friction—the use of correctly cut gears and a thorough lubricating system.

Oakland cars are made in four and six cylinder models, in a wide range of body designs. $1150 to $2600, fully equipped, f. o. b. Pontiac.

Why "Black-balled."

The ancient Greeks used marked shells for voting, and from the Greek word ostrakon comes the English word ostracize, that is, to shut out by an unfavorable shell. "Black-balled" means the same thing, once upon a time white and black balls being used for secret voting.

AKRON STOMACH VICTIMS ARE RESTORED BY MAYR'S REMEDY

A. M. George Gets Rid of Malady After Several Years of Suffering.

A. M. George, who has offices at 304 Walsh Building, Akron, was for many years a sufferer from stomach ailments. He tried a good many treatments and took many medicines.

At last he found Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy. The relief he sought came swiftly. He wrote: "It is wonderful what results I receive from this remedy."

I haven't had a symptom of the old trouble that I suffered for several years. Mr. Ferver, my neighbor, who sent for some claims that he is a different man altogether, and his wife, who has been in poor health for several years, thinks it is doing her good.

Just such letters come from all over the country. Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy convinces with the first dose—no long treatment. Mr. George's experience is typical.

Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy clears the digestive tract of mucoid accretions and poisonous matter. It gives quick relief from stomach, liver and bowel troubles. Many say it has saved them from dangerous operations and many are sure it has saved their lives.

Because of the remarkable success of this remedy there are many imitators, so be cautious. Be sure it's MAYR'S. Go to Fink & Haumesser's drug store and ask about the wonderful results it has accomplished—or send to Geo. H. Mayr, Mfg. Chemist, 154-156 Whiting St., Chicago, Ill., for free book on stomach ailments and many grateful letters from people who have been restored. Any druggist can tell you its wonderful effects.

Woman's Work.

According to the last volume of the British census returns in the United Kingdom women have succeeded in establishing themselves in a number of industries where their presence is unexpected.

Several women are paper-hangers and whitewashers, and four are brick-layers—all of them widows. There is only one woman coachman. Three women are in the heading of "clergymen, priests and ministers," and four are coalheavers.

Then there are 347 women "car-men" and wagoners, and 231 women blacksmiths and "strikers."

One woman occupies herself with making patent fuel, and there are three women shipwrights, and five women "tramway car makers."

Finally, England and Wales can boast of 56 women carpenters and joiners, and 14 women masons. Of the latter 13 are widows.

What Interested Her.

Little Myrtle, the daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Cargets of the Salvation Army, was apparently intensely interested in a sermon by Col. Samuel Brengle, for many years a friend of the late Gen. William Booth, at Salvation Army headquarters, in West Fourteenth street. Her parents highly approved of this reverent attitude.

Colonel Brengle's speech, however, was not greatly impressed by Col. Brengle's speech, "Do you not, my dear?" said her proud parent after the meeting.

"Yes, papa," she answered enthusiastically. "I was wondering all the time how far his chief was in his work."

Colonel Brengle is a man of the highest type. He is a man of the highest type. He is a man of the highest type.

London's Modern Fire Brigade.

The London fire brigade is rapidly becoming a completely motor-equipped fire fighting organization. Today London possesses 97 motor appliances and two motor fire floats. It is now proposed to spend in the near future $500,000 in providing 13 motor engines, 43 electric escape vans, 94 petrol or petrol electric motor pumps, 27 motor turntable ladders, 11 motor cars, and a motor canteen van, or 249 new motor appliances. In three years horses will be unknown in the London fire brigade.

It's Best Anyway.

"I'm an optimist," said ex-Governor Sulzer at a banquet in New York City. "I'm an optimist before my impeachment. Then I lost my optimism temporarily."

"An optimist," the ex-governor added, "dramatically," is a chap who doesn't know what's coming to him."

Unmasked.

"Why, Bridget?" exclaimed the mistress of the house to her servant, "so you're not going to leave me after all? Why did you decide not to marry the coal man?" "Well, I saw him wash his face with his free hand, cut his face washed, and you've no idea, mum, how homely he is!"

Here's a good motto for married men: "Be sure you're right, then ask your wife."

Who Invented Chess?

The honor of inventing chess has been claimed by at least fourteen nations, and a variety of famous persons have been mentioned as sole inventors, ranging from Japhet and Shem to King Solomon and Aristotle. It is, however, generally agreed that Europe got the game from the Arabic, the "chekmat" being a corruption of "Shah mat" ("the king is dead").

Hawk Swooped on Hen.

A large hawk attacked J. S. Spicer of Fredericksburg, Va., while he was having wild turkeys at Spotsylvania county. While hidden in a brush pile and undergrowth, Spicer commenced calling turkeys. Soon a huge hawk alighted on the limb of a tree nearby. While Spicer was waiting for the bird to turn, so as to become a favorable target, the bird suddenly dived toward him. Before the hunter could fire the hawk was upon him. Spicer threw up his left hand to guard his face, and the hawk's talons pierced his hands. Spicer soon bore the hawk to the ground, and getting his knife from his pocket, with his free hand, cut the leaders in the hawk's legs. In this condition he succeeded in bringing it to Fredericksburg alive. It is supposed the hawk saw only Spicer's eyes through the brush, and thought him a rabbit or other prey.

Inhospital to Royalty.

In the course of army maneuvers in a country district Prince Arthur of Connaught and some brother officers lunched on top of a haystack. Presently the farmer appeared and forcibly expressed his opinions on the subject of his haystack being used as a messroom. An orderly hurried up and explained what the officers were, and he added that one of them was Prince Arthur, King George's cousin. The indignant farmer flatly refused to believe him. "Anyway, prince or no prince, they've got to come off my stack," he declared, and, turning to the amused officers, he added, "I wash it all from the books of you, the next thing you'd do with the stack would be to eat it!"

Life Need Not Be Narrow.

Our life is not as narrow as we let it be. If we live in a lonely country place miles from a railway, we can study the plants and animals about us until we come to understand something of the secrets of the universe. If our lot is in a great city, we have opportunities of studying human nature—seeing with our own eyes the development of characters as strange as ever novelist put into his books. Multitudes of men walked the same streets with Dickens without seeing a hundredth part of what he saw. It is the power of observation that we lack, and this power may be, to a certain extent, cultivated by practice.—Exchange.
